

Ok Carlos, I agree with you in a 70%, and while I don't need to clarify anything through this via, because if you have a complaint there's a protocol and a global form for that. Anyway, I need to do it because you involved members here, and please all in this googlegroup excuse me but don't worry, this will be my last entry here so I will refer to another thread pending too.

Well, first of all, I need to repeat what I said in the last meeting with Carlos, I apologies and I will retract some words in my previous email talking about Carlos. In fact if all of you look in my last thread with a PROPOSAL that derived in clarifications and people pushing and quoting each other, you will find the phrase: "I have to apologies to Carlos, the past is the past". My real intention was to warn Karin of who she talks with about "stupid internal issues", so going on my email I remark what I consider the important 5 points

Sorry for my delay too, I just arrived home, but well, the topic in the meeting was around Karin's email to an open latin-america's group list exposing the core team through a third party (Carlos)"brujo". This led to misinterpretations about the creation of the TZM Core Team. Looks like a leak of "secret info", first because it's not a regular way, but mostly because Carlos(brujo)instigated in this matter. I don't doubt Kari's kindness, but obviously, her knowledge about the spanish speaking chapters affairs is coming from Carlos, who was an instigator on Brian's CND case, Spains-Plaza del Sol Movement (precursor of OWS), open campaing against LTI Team and some "ad hominem" attacks to Gilbert, Miguel, Ray and me.

All this plus the misinterpretations from some colombians that have been making noise for the last 10-12 months about the infamous concept of "horizontalty", make continuous ad hominem attacks and strawman fallacies at people, and propagate the idea that the Colombian chapter "IS" doing well with "Zeitgeist Teams" like "Zeitgeist Nutrition", Zeitgeist Permaculture" and Zeitgeist Medicine" to mention a few.

I'm trying to deal with all this, and answering James question, no man, nothing relevant on education, the recording is just in my computer, and if somebody only in this group needs it I will upload it in a few hours. I would like to thank Jason and the other participants, and I suggest all to keep working and not waste time on structural issues, for that I think we already have the asynchronous tools.

*Take Care
Nelson*

1.- Karin exposed this google group no matter the way she used the info, and not all of the people here have enough confidence with the people in there region to do that, specially when the person that formed the team asked us to keep it private. Actually all Latino coords know about it but the email that Karin wrote was translated by no matter who and posted in an open latino googlegroup. I ask myself why Karin didn't do that in the zmchapters@googlegroup, it's the same but in Spanish. Just until today and after the last meeting consensus of all the latino coords, the group is closed and only the coords decide who enters from each chapter in the group. At the end I want to be clear "if somebody, no matter who or why, asks me to just keep this in private, I don't worry why or who asked that, the person must have his reasons" and you know that Carlos, you have sent me emails saying the same, and nobody knows.

2.- It's a fact that you Brujo, are always looking for heads or witches, like you do with all the people you mentioned in this email that I'm responding to you.

3.- I retract absolutely from this. That was an assumption because I thought that all this about horizontality and “focus into sustainability projects” came from you Carlos because I’ve had meetings with you and Erick from Colombia who have that same position. But remembering you told me you don’t fully agree with him, and only now I can understand better Karin’s and David’s orientation by taking a look at the Australian website. I’ve seen, for example, past GCA meeting recordings downloadable to all and also the orientation to sustainability projects (as you can see in the next images I attached) that personally I disagree with as a global orientation. I emphasize “as a global orientation” because my family also has extensive land with 80% of sustainability on it, but everyone that lives on it and doesn’t understand this shift of consciousness is still keeping their jobs and supporting the present economy because even having free and clean energy and food, THEY STILL WANT MORE STUFF!, and say they love their jobs because of the social status it gives them. I understand that people in the movement get interested in these types of projects, but they should be carried out at a personal level, not as an activity organized and/or promoted by TZM as if it was a tool for spreading awareness. While anyone can try to leave the system, our responsibility as a global movement is to spread the information to all the people. An RBEM only works at a global scale, and that implies that all need to know about it first.

So please go to the <http://www.chapters.zeitgeistaustralia.org/rbe/node/534> page to pledge toward the project or find out more information.

Warmly Mighty Matt

Add new comment

We have a Intentional Community!

Hello Group members. Got some happy news for you.

Me and Karl have joined a Intentional Community here in Adelaide that is very aligned with Zeitgeist principles. The community needs work, and currently it only houses 3 ppl + us 2. We will be living there for some time on a trial basis and discussing how we can expand the community with a TZM approach.

Overall they seem pretty keen to go into that direction, and the Community is a great bunch of people!

Add new comment

Admin?

A admin is required for this group - who wishes to pick this responsibility up?

Mind you - the person that I think should commit to this responsibility is the person most active in this group, and considering the scope of this project - a person who is committed for life.

2 comments

Welcome to the RBE R&D Coordination group!!

Okee - so I didn't set this up, but it's great to see a project-group started re: RBE R&D Coordination!!

I think this is what most of us are here for in the long term, and I can't wait to get cracking with projects!

We have a number of really practically-oriented members with skills appropriate to this.

17 comments Read more

"Inventmen" proposal together.

Awesome! We'll need a few Jacks of all trades and DIY Specialists :- D Behavioural Psychologist hey? Gold!!! And multi-lingual! A talented Man...
Required Skills for the Awesome community...

WOOOO YEAH!!!! Great stuff!!!
Investing your Super in Land!

Mighty Matt
10:59am Jan 6, 2012

Mighty Matt
10:51am Jan 6, 2012

Investing your Super in land for the RBE RnD Community

Mighty Matt
11:14am Jan 6, 2012

Hey Everyone,

In case you don't know, we're raising capital to buy a piece of a land using people's Super. So it's money you're currently not using, and money that some people think the government will just take anyway to "buy" themselves out of the current financial system. hehehe funny government.

So please go to the <http://www.chapters.zeitgeistaustralia.org/rbe/node/534> page to pledge toward the project or find out more information.

Warmly Mighty Matt

Add new comment

We have a Intentional Community!

ArtsFantasy-DavidZ
4:18pm Dec 5, 2011

Hello Group members. Got some happy news for you.

Me and Karl have joined a Intentional Community here in Adelaide that is very aligned with Zeitgeist principles. The community needs work, and currently it only houses 3 ppl + us 2. We will be living there for some time on a trial basis and discussing how we can expand the community with a TZM approach.

Overall they seem pretty keen to go into that direction, and the Community is a great bunch of people!

Add new comment

Recent comments

Curumbin EcoVillage
<http://theecovillage.com.au/> started planning 17 years ago and building about 5 years ago. It is now a model of sustainable,...

Simon C
1:19pm Jan 24, 2012

Another useful community to learn from, also info for anyone putting an "investment" proposal together.

Awesome! We'll need a few Jacks of all trades and DIY Specialists :- D Behavioural

Mighty Matt
10:59am Jan 6, 2012

Psychologist hey? Gold!!! And multi-lingual! A talented Man...
Required Skills for the Awesome community...

WOOOO YEAH!!!! Great stuff!!!

Mighty Matt
10:51am Jan 6, 2012

Investing your Super in Land!

Investing your Super in Land!

Mick W
10:31pm Sep 25, 2011

Open

Land Aquisition
Assigned to Mick W

Due Date Friday, Sep 30
Priority Normal
Type Research
Last updated 24 weeks 6 days ago

Raising the Capital

According to Government legislation, using your super to purchase land is a legal and sound investment strategy. Although the land you purchase can not be used for personal use, if it is bought as an investment and a third party i.e. a commercial entity, such as a non for profit Foundation leases the land, you have ticked all the boxes the legislation requires!

So who would like to invest in some land, we may just have a foundation willing to lease it for a few hundred years or so :-)

This case is set up to collect expressions of interest in well, investing in a parcel of land using your super. Via the comment box simply state your name, an amount of money you wish to invest, and a way to contact you.

Don't worry, this is in no way binding, we are just trying to measure weather this method is feasible or not... I'll go first!

Print

#11

Simon C - $15,000

Simon C
6:00am Dec 14, 2011

reply

My cases

No cases found.

4.- I can't retract myself on this because of the information that I have from the people involved, but you're right, I can't also affirm that just because the people involved say they have proof.

But anyway, if that was true, that “WAS”, as the text I quote says “ who WAS”, and adding again the text in the other thread: the past is the past. So true or not, the affirmation I did has zero validation.

5.- I fully agree with you and I retract this, I have never seen you attacking anybody, and I need to admit you're always correct in your speak. In other words you never use ad hominen attacks, you just use ad hominen arguments.

Regarding your approval in the site, it's not up to me.

Well, I hope this helps Carlos, and at the end I will ask you just one thing, talk all what you want about me but please don't make me waste my time again.